Talk about braying asses. The town is fall of them. McBrayer's whiskey is only to be found at the Empire Saloon. And When it's found it stays.

Fn Requa of the Empire Saloon has made a new deal which will touch the hearts, or at least the palates of many a thirsty wanderer. He keeps "half-and-half" on draught and serves a most de licious and cool beverage, far superior to "plain" beer.

From The War.

.London, Oct. 1. A British naval officer attached to the Chinese naval squadron which was engaged in the fight off the mouth of the Yalu river, has written a letter to the Graphic, in which he gives additional details of the fighting, and savs: "On board the war ship Chen Yues, the fighting was awful. The decks and space around the guns were strewn with human fragments. Three of the five men working a four-ton gun, were blown up by a shell from the Japanese war ship. The fourth ganner was shot while attempting to escape from the turret, and the fifth stuck to his post. This man fired three rounds at the Naniwa, one shell entering the engine room of the Japanese ship and another smashing her forebridge. The Naniwa then hauled off. The Chinese Admiral rewarded the surviving ganner with a present of 1000 taels.

"A shell glanced from the steel deck of the Chen Yuen and went through her tower, shattering everthing therein. A Festerent who was in the act of speaking through the tabe leading to the engine room, was blown to atoms, and his head was left hanging to the seaking pipe. Huge fragments of armor and the teak backing thereof were carried on to the person bringing in the hoard by the shot, crushing a less mass A European engineer, who was groping about in an endeavor to repair a steam pipe, was drenched from head to foot

The Chen Yuen arrived at Wei Hawei the day after the fight in the same cond tion which she left the battle No attempt has been leaving here n January 29th, if or to remove corpses which strewed her decks."

The writer expresses the opinion that if the European rulers could have seen the Chen Yuen they would have foresworn war henceforth and forever.
